To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great enthusiasm that I write this letter of recommendation for Ms. Hayley Moonsamy, who served as a Graphic Design Intern at Ecorbit Health from January to December 2023. As the Head of Marketing, I had the privilege of directly overseeing her work, and I am confident in her exceptional talent, professionalism, and dedication to excellence.

During her internship, Hayley played a pivotal role in elevating our brand's visual identity. She demonstrated mastery of Adobe Creative Suite, Figma, and Canva, creating high-impact digital and print assets, including social media graphics, brochures, email templates, and infographics. Her designs for our mental health and wellness campaigns contributed to an 9.4% increase in audience engagement, showcasing her ability to translate complex health topics into visually compelling, accessible content.

Hayley's technical skills were matched by her innovative thinking. She collaborated cross-functionally with our marketing, content, and product teams to refine UX/UI elements for Ecorbit's website and app interfaces, ensuring intuitive navigation and inclusive design. Her work on a nutrition awareness campaign involved repurposing existing assets into interactive web content, which streamlined costs while maximizing reach a testament to her resourcefulness and problem-solving acumen.

Beyond her technical prowess, Hayley consistently exhibited professionalism, adaptability, and a growth mindset. Whether meeting tight deadlines for urgent projects or iterating designs based on stakeholder feedback, she approached every task with creativity and precision. Her ability to balance artistic vision with data-driven insights made her an invaluable asset to our team.

Hayley is a rare talent who bridges creativity with technical execution. I have no doubt she will excel in roles requiring graphic design, UX/UI innovation, or digital storytelling. For any organization seeking a motivated, detail-oriented professional with a passion for impactful design, she comes with my highest recommendation.
